THE SULLIVANS AT PINOCHLE.

"TIS SMALL CHANCE THEY HAVE
AT THE IMPORTED GAME.

Protests to the Hon. Florrie of No. Avall
"We Must Interest Our Constituents."
He Explains—Dinny Sullivan Only Winning Irishman—Foul Saved Him.

Before the Hon. Florrie Sullivan became the Tammany leader of "de Ate" pinochle on the Bowery was closed with old maid.
Several weeks ago Florrie culled his Bowery henchmen around him and said:
"I am going to have a pinochle tournament
among the boys. If we don't get jobs we have got to do something to interest the gang. I am going to give a gold watch to the winner and I want you fellows to get into it. Those fellows east of the Bowery know the game when they leave the cradle.
The Bowery must hold its own."
The Hon. Florrie's remarks were not enthusiastically received.
"Have I got to get into this game?" asked Dinny Sullivan.
"You have," said the Hon. Florrie. "You must learn the game and take your chances."

For three weeks several expert pinochle players from Grand street have been instructing the Bowery Sullivans in the mysteries of the game. A special teacher was assigned to Dinny Sullivan in the person of Big Benny Myers. Myers gave Sullivan more than twenty lessons and at the conclusion Dinny wanted to know what a mield meant. Myers reported to the Hon. Florrie that Dinny refused to learn the game.
"You are his teacher," said Florrie, "and you can use corporal punishment if necessary."
"I guess not," said Myers.
There was a meeting of the Florrie Sullivan Association yesterday afternoon and the pinochle tournament was the principal topic of discussion.
"Florrie's away off" commented Dinny

Sullivan. "Why does he stack the Bowery gang up against a Dutch game?"
The tournament will last about two weeks more. This is the score to date:

	Games
Abe Einklestein	..... 8
Abe Cohen	..... 7
Sam Silverstein	..... 6
Julius Lyons	..... 5
Abe Hanowitz	..... 4
Isay Cohen	..... 3
Phil Weisig	..... 2
Sam Solomon	..... 1
Joe Cohen	..... 0
Abe Herman	..... 0
Herman disqualified for playing with sixteen cards. Sullivan was the winner.

After the meeting adjourned last night Dinny Sullivan mounted the platform and made a speech despite the Hon. Florrie's protests. He said:
"What chance have we in this game?
I'm a Sullivan and it's too late to stack up the old Bowery harps against a Dutch game. Of can't think what we are coming to down here."
Dinny was then pulled down from the platform and hustled out of the hall.

BENEDICT ARNOLD'S HOUSE.

Workmen Pulling Down the Structure He Built in New Haven in 1771.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 28.—Workmen have begun to pull down the house built by Benedict Arnold in this city in 1771. It stands on Water street, across from the freight yards of the New Haven Railroad. For many years it has been used as a storage house for lumber, and the lumber dealer finds it in the way.
Arnold lived in it many years. A few feet away from it stood his apothecary store, that long since was demolished. In 1782 the State seized the property because Arnold had turned traitor. Noah Webster show a fine specimen of the mason's art.
The foundations are massive enough to hold a modern skyscraper.
Several relics, among them the handsome parlor mantel and fireplace, are in the possession of the New Haven Historical Society.

IN BY ST. LOUIS AND ETRURIA.

Gen. Fountain, Safenoff, the Conductor, Two Scotch Lassies About to Wed.

Stormy weather delayed the American liner St. Louis and the Cunarder Etruria, both in yesterday. In the jostling of the seas Able Seaman J. Sundin was shaken from the crew's nest of the St. Louis and fell to the deck, breaking his arm and two ribs. The passengers took up a collection of $154 for him. Aboard the St. Louis were Acting Adjutant-General Samuel W. Fountain of the Department of Mindanao, Philippines; the Countess Louise Lerchenfeld, who was Miss Ethel Louise Wyman of this city; Prof. Wadli I. Safenoff, the musical conductor of the Imperial Russian Musical Society of Moscow; Sir Mackenzie Bowell of Canada, and Senior Lieutenant Erwin Franz of the Austrian Army, who is on his way to the war in the East.

Gen. Fountain is here on leave of absence, after a stay in the Philippines of nearly three years. He is accompanied by his wife and his daughter, who has a Japanese maid. He says that while the Philippines are not absolutely peaceful they are pretty near it, and that tremendous progress has been made in modernizing things in the islands.

Five trunks belonging to Miss J. M. Carton, a dressmaker of this city, were taken to the public stores to enable a proper appraisal of the value of their contents, a lot of dress goods of foreign manufacture. The woman in the second cabin was detained temporarily because she had not declared a watch made abroad. She paid the duty and was permitted to take it with her.

Among the Etruria's passengers were R. S. Waldron, a sea rover who finished his seventy-eighth trip across the Atlantic, all made in Cunard ships, and William Johnston the Johnston line, who is going to Baltimore to look after the line's property damaged in the fire. Two young Scotch women who were second cabin passengers by the Etruria, Mary Brown and Lizzie Gourley, were bound for Chicago to marry sweethearts they knew when in Scotland. They were taken away by a friend of the young men who was sent here to meet them.

Five-Year-Old Boy Dies of Alcoholism.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Feb. 28.—Alcoholism caused the death of five-year-old Asa Seely, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Seely, last night. Mrs. Seely declared that she had been in the habit of feeding whiskey to her children for medicine and that she thought it was better than a doctor's medicine.

Frank Ellison Buried.

The funeral of Frank "Biff" Ellison was held yesterday and he was buried in the Sleepy Hollow Cemetery at Tarrytown. None of Ellison's old associates attended his funeral, which was as quiet as his life. A clergyman read the burial service at the grave, but no other service was held.

THE SULLIVAN TAILOR WEDS.

Check for $10,000 for the Bride—Lots of Politicians Present.

All the Sullivans of the Bowery, the leading members of the Heeper Club, the Larry Mulligan Association and the best known bookmakers of New York attended the wedding last night of Michael Riegel, the official Sullivan tailor, and Martha Ruskak, the pretty daughter of Mrs. B. Ruskak, a widow, of 27 West 115th street.

When the Hon. Timothy D. Sullivan was first elected to the Assembly, Riegel made for him a waistcoat which the Hon. Tim wore at the inauguration ceremonies at Albany. Riegel got the credit of being the first man to bring Big Tim into the limelight, and since then he has been known as the official Sullivan tailor.

After the ceremony yesterday more than a thousand guests attended the reception in the Hennstadt in West 115th street. Among those present were Congressman Sullivan, Senator J. C. Fitzgerald, Commissioner John T. Oakley, Fire Commissioner Hayes, Alderman Timothy P. Sullivan, Senator Samuel J. Foley, Congressman Bulmer, Deputy Police Commissioner McAvoy, Port Warden Charles S. Adler, Alderman Marks, Under Sheriff Julius Harburger, Police Captains Flood, McDermott, O'Connor and Murtha, Inspector Schmittberger, Justice Roscoe and City Chamberlain Keenan.

An incident of the occasion was the presentation of a check for $10,000 by the mother of the bride to her daughter.
